The work plan to be submitted must include:

1. Scientific Field.

Besides the main scientific field (i.e., Psychology), please indicate the secondary scientific field (e.g., Cognitive Psychology; Social Cognition and Decision Making; Cognitive Neurosciences), and the integrated member(s) of the CO2, CICPSI that will supervise the project (a declaration of the supervisor(s) and integrated member(s) of the CO2 supporting the application is mandatory).

2. Work Plan

The work plan shows the overall vision of the research proposal and provides access to each specific field within the work plan, which includes the fields presented below.

2.1 Title of the work plan

It should be concise, understandable for anyone with a general scientific background and adequate for public disclosure.

2.2. Abstract (maximum 150 words).

It is a synthesis of the applicant's work plan. A good summary should be clear and well structured, showing that the applicant is able to summarize the object of research, the aims of the project and the main expected contributions of the research work.

2.3. Key-words

Four to six keywords that best describe the work plan.

2.4. State of the Art (maximum 500 words)

The state of the art, or literature review, brings together, analyses and discusses published work in the area of the work plan. Its purpose is to provide a theoretical grounding for the object of research, by referring to previous studies, which should be confronted and interrelated, especially if they are contradictory to each other; you should also point out the originality of your proposal.

2.5. Aims (maximum 300 words)

This subsection provides a description of the main research questions to address and goals to attain.

2.6. Plan and methods (maximum 1000 words)

This subsection should contain the detailed work plan and a description of how the aims of the research project will be achieved. The description should provide all the necessary elements to allow assessment by the evaluation panel, namely the methodological approach, description of tasks, their interrelatedness, sequence and schedule. It may also include a contingency plan, describing, in this case, how eventual unforeseen events might be resolved.

2.6. References (maximum 20 entries)

This subsection presents the bibliography included in the project and must be written following the APA rules of scientific writing.

2.7. Grant chart

A chart with milestones for the tasks representing the timeline of the work plan must be included.

2.8. Other information

If considered necessary, the applicant may also add one file containing formulas, schematics, diagrams, charts or images. In any case, this file should only be an example or demonstration of what has been described in the various fields of the proposal and, therefore, should not be considered its extension.
